Introduction Statement

I'm Jarred Gambrell, well rounded with interests and skills casting over multiple disciplines; however, my focus is mostly frontend web development and graphic design. Professionally, my experiences and body of work has prepped me to efficiently produce with a proven methodology and process through conceptualization and critical thinking.

I welcome any challenge! I'm solution and goal oriented by nature, and look forward to collaborating, learning, sharing, and working to implement new ideas and methods. The hope is to advance and enhance the essential ideas, messages, and perception of the client.

Lastly, I'm organized, self motivated, a team player, eager, but patient, constantly thinking and unthinking, free flowing, curious, and just an all around easygoing guy. I'm constantly searching, and working towards new and exciting opportunities, ventures and discoveries. I have a keen awareness for details as well as enjoy experimenting and traveling the less explored, or unthought-of ideas, visions, and perspectives.

Additionally: I've written and co-written stylesheets for several years. The code/styles will accommodate major browsers and platforms and mobile. I can also provide development documentation if you should need to customize further down the road.

I've worked on projects for big clients, Verizon, Denny's, L.L Bean, Stanley Steamer, etc. Projects range from advertising banners, emails, to web development with focus on frontend styling and functionality.

If needed, I would be glad to provide you with any extra supplemental information.

Thank you,

jarred GAMBRELL

Founder / Owner

Gambrell Interactive and Design builds creative and sensible design/interactive solutions to assist and enhance the message for startups and small businesses as well as work to form great relationships and partnerships with clients. These experiences have afforded me the great opportunity to work, learn, and grow across the spectrum of web development and graphic design.

- Front-end re-design and development of static, dynamic, and full flash interaction websites
- Website integration of ASPX form submission, PayPal ecommerce, and WordPress CMS
- Provided website maintenance and content updates for client website and college portal
- Designed marketing and display collateral for the college, and ITEC exhibition show
- Designed, produced and rendered 3D objects and animations for seminar demonstrations
- Co-designed a supplemental CD interface for a McGraw-Hill gaming reference textbook
- Consulted and collaborated in branding, and website and software developments
- Developed and designed brand identity and business stationery and collateral
